12. The States members of the Committee also congratulated the Gabonese Republic on its outstanding election to the United Nations Security Council. In that regard, they welcomed the initiative taken by the Gabonese Presidency of the Security Council in March 2010 to hold a meeting on the topic: "Central African region: Impact of illicit arms trafficking on peace and security".

IV. Consideration of the revised draft legal instrument for the control, in Central Africa, of small arms and light weapons, their ammunition and all parts and components that can be used for their manufacture, repair and assembly

13. In accordance with the decision taken by the States members of the Committee at its twenty-ninth ministerial meeting, document UNSAC/2010/30/WP.1, entitled “Revised draft legal instrument for the control, in Central Africa, of small arms and light weapons, their ammunition and all parts and components that can be used for their manufacture, repair and assembly” was the basis for the exchanges of views among member States. It had been prepared by the United Nations Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament in Africa.

14. The States members of the Committee commended the Regional Centre on the quality of the document and expressed their full satisfaction with its content. They reiterated their gratitude to the Government of Austria for its financial support.

15. The States members of the Committee expressed satisfaction that the United Nations Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament in Africa had taken into account their comments and the contributions of the independent experts who had met on 12 and 13 March 2010 in Nairobi. This meeting of independent experts, most of whom were African, had enabled practitioners such as the representatives of ECCAS, the Regional Centre on Small Arms and Light Weapons in the Great Lakes Region, the Horn of Africa and Bordering States (RECSEA), the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) and international lawyers and experts to share with the Committee secretariat the experience they had gained from the formulation and implementation of similar legal instruments.

16. The revised draft legal instrument consists of a preamble and nine chapters.

17. It emerged from the discussions that the revised draft legal instrument reflects the latest developments in the area of regulating the trade in small arms and light weapons and of combating illicit trafficking. It also takes into account the political, security, cultural, legal and institutional specificities of the 11 States members of the Committee. The revised draft legal instrument is aimed at preventing, combating and eradicating illicit trade and trafficking in small arms and light weapons in Central Africa.

18. The States members of the Committee adopted the revised draft legal instrument and decided that its title should be: “Central African Convention for the Control of Small Arms and Light Weapons, Their Ammunition and All Parts and Components That Can Be Used for Their Manufacture, Repair and Assembly”, or the “Kinshasa Convention”. The document which was adopted is annexed to this report.

19. The States members of the Committee decided to refer to the adoption of the Convention in a resolution of the General Assembly at its sixty-fifth regular session, and to mention that the Convention would be opened for signature by member States at the thirty-first ministerial meeting.

20. The consideration of the revised draft legal instrument, chapter by chapter, may be summarized as follows:

- Preamble and Chapter I: Purpose and definitions

21. The States members of the Committee expressed satisfaction with the Preamble, which reflects their concerns about illicit trade and trafficking in small arms and light weapons in Central Africa. They took note of the references made to the link between women, peace and security and to the phenomenon of road blockers and cross-border insecurity. They also expressed satisfaction with the reference made to bladed weapons as tools that can be used for violent and criminal purposes in Central Africa.

22. The States members of the Committee decided that the purpose of the revised draft legal instrument was to prevent, combat and eradicate illicit trade and trafficking in small arms and light weapons in Central Africa. They also expressed agreement with the strengthening of inter-State cooperation, collaboration between the public authorities and civil society organizations, and the monitoring of authorized activities such as transfers, manufacture, possession or use of small arms and light weapons.

23. The States members of the Committee accepted the definitions set forth in the revised draft legal instrument. These definitions derive from relevant texts in existence and/or endorsed at the subregional, regional and international levels.

- Chapter II: Transfers

24. The States members of the Committee accepted a regime for authorization of transfers of weapons and ammunition. They noted that transfers are authorized only for States, and only for necessities of maintaining law and order, defence or participation in peacekeeping operations. On the other hand, transfers are strictly prohibited for non-State armed groups.

- Chapter III: Possession by civilians

25. The States members of the Committee decided to prohibit the possession of small arms by civilians and to authorize, under certain conditions, the possession of light weapons by civilians with the exception of weapons manufactured to military specifications.

26. The States members of the Committee also provided for the adoption of specific national measures to control the possession of light weapons by civilians.

- Chapter IV: Manufacture, distribution and repair

27. The States members of the Committee authorized, under certain conditions, the industrial manufacture and home production of small arms and light weapons, their ammunition and all parts and components that can be used for their manufacture, repair and assembly.

- Chapter V: Operational procedures

28. The States members of the Committee decided that all activities linked to brokering in weapons and ammunition should be regulated at the national level, including registration of private individuals and companies established or operating as brokers. The members also decided that all weapons and their ammunition would be systematically marked in accordance with precise technical specifications.

29. Furthermore, the States members of the Committee agreed to adopt a tracing procedure to enable the transfer of weapons and ammunition to be monitored. They also indicated their agreement concerning the need to systematically register, collect and destroy all surplus, obsolete or illicit arms and ammunition.

30. The States members of the Committee decided to maintain the security of depots and to adopt the necessary administrative measures to manage stockpiles. States would also be required to maintain border control and to designate a precise number of points for entry of arms and ammunition into their territories.

31. The States members of the Committee decided to develop public and community education and awareness programmes at the local, national and regional levels to promote greater public and community involvement.

• Chapter VI: Transparency and exchange of information

32. The States members of the Committee decided to promote transparency and the exchange of information and to strengthen confidence among them. They decided to establish and maintain centralized national electronic databases on small arms and light weapons, their ammunition and all parts and components that can be used for their manufacture, repair and assembly.

33. In addition, the States members of the Committee entrusted the Secretary-General of ECCAS with establishing and maintaining a subregional electronic database on small arms and light weapons, their ammunition and all parts and components that can be used for their manufacture, repair and assembly. The Secretary-General of ECCAS would also establish and maintain, in order to ensure control of their movement, a subregional database on weapons used in peacekeeping operations. He would take the necessary steps to cooperate with international suppliers and to ensure that they conform to the spirit and letter of the legal instrument.

• Chapter VII: Harmonization of national legislation

34. The States members of the Committee agreed to revise, update and harmonize their respective national legislation, including provisions to criminalize or impose civil penalties on certain practices.

35. Furthermore, appropriate mechanisms would be established or strengthened to combat corruption linked to illicit manufacture, possession and use of, and trafficking in, small arms and light weapons, their ammunition and all parts and components that can be used for their manufacture, repair and assembly.

• Chapter VIII: Institutional arrangements and implementation

36. The States members of the Committee decided to appoint national focal points on small arms and light weapons in their respective countries. In addition, they decided to create national commissions to coordinate action to combat illicit trade and trafficking in small arms and light weapons. The focal points would also serve as permanent secretaries and/or chairmen of the national commissions.

37. The States members of the Committee also agreed to provide the secretariat of ECCAS with the institutional and operational capacities commensurate with its responsibilities in implementing the legal instrument. The secretariat of ECCAS would, among other tasks, have the responsibility of facilitating the establishment of a network of civil society organizations, mobilizing the necessary resources, providing financial and technical support to member States and non-governmental organizations, preparing an annual report and ensuring follow-up and appraisal of the implementation of the legal instrument.

• Chapter IX: General and final provisions

38. The States members of the Committee decided that accession to the Convention would be open to all States members of the Committee. However, any other interested State not a member of the Committee may also accede upon a decision to that end by the Conference of States Parties.

39. In addition, the Secretary-General of the United Nations is designated the depositary of the Convention, which will enter into force on the date of deposit of the sixth instrument of ratification.

• Plan for implementation of the legal instrument

40. The States members of the Committee considered in first reading document UNSAC/2010/30/WP.2 entitled “Preliminary draft plan for implementation of the legal instrument”. At the request of States, it was prepared by the United Nations Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament in Africa to accompany the legal instrument. It includes actions to be undertaken by member States at the national level and by the ECCAS secretariat at the subregional level. The actions consist of three types: institutional, prescriptive and operational measures.

41. The States members of the Committee commended the Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament in Africa on the quality of the document. They recommended that each member State should, at the national level, consider the preliminary draft plan for implementation of the legal instrument, with the participation of the various ministries. The States members of the Committee decided to draft written recommendations at the close of the said consultations and to transmit them to the committee secretariat by 31 July 2010 at the latest.

42. The States members of the Committee decided to include in the agenda of the thirty-first ministerial meeting consideration of the preliminary draft plan for implementation of the Convention, the text of which should be sent to them one month before the holding of the ministerial meeting.

V. Date and place of the next meeting

43. The States members of the Committee decided to hold the thirty-first ministerial meeting in November 2010.

44. The States members of the Committee recommended that the Secretariat should hold consultations to decide on the venue and precise dates, which would be communicated to the member States in due course.

VI. Other matters

45. The States members of the Committee followed attentively the important statement by the head of the delegation of Cameroon on maritime piracy in the Gulf of Guinea. Given the seriousness and urgency of the problem, they recommended that ECCAS and the Commission of the Gulf of Guinea should organize as soon as possible a subregional conference on maritime piracy in Central Africa. The members also recommended that the item should be included in the agenda of the thirty-first ministerial meeting.

VII. Adoption of the report of the thirtieth ministerial meeting

46. The States members of the Committee adopted the present report on 30 April 2010. They expressed their appreciation to the United Nations Office for Disarmament Affairs for the technical assistance and expertise that it continues to provide to them.

PREAMBLE

We, Heads of State and Government of the States members of the Economic Community of Central African States (ECCAS) and the Republic of Rwanda, and States members of the United Nations Standing Advisory Committee on Security Questions in Central Africa (“the Committee”);

Recalling the principles of the Charter of the United Nations, especially those concerning disarmament and arms control and those inherent in the right of States of individual or collective self-defence, non-intervention and non-interference in the internal affairs of another State, and prohibition of the use or threat to use force;

Taking into account the importance of the Protocol against the Illicit Manufacturing of and Trafficking in Firearms, Their Parts and Components and Ammunition, supplementing the United Nations Convention against Transnational Organized Crime; the United Nations Programme of Action to Prevent, Combat and Eradicate the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects; the International Instrument to Enable States to Identify and Trace, in a Timely and Reliable Manner, Illicit Small Arms and Light Weapons; and the United Nations Basic Principles on the Use of Force and Firearms by Law Enforcement Officials;

Reaffirming the importance of United Nations Security Council resolution 1325 (2000) and subsequent resolutions 1820 (2008), 1888 (2009) and 1889 (2009) on women, peace and security;

Taking into account the importance of the United Nations Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women, and also the Windhoek Declaration and the Namibia Plan of Action on Mainstreaming a Gender Perspective in Multidimensional Peace Support Operations;

Reaffirming also the importance of Security Council resolution 1612 (2005) and subsequent resolutions on children and armed conflict and condemning the recruitment of children in armed forces and their participation in armed conflicts;

Recalling also the relevant provisions of the Constitutive Act of the African Union and the Bamako Declaration on an African Common Position on the Illicit Proliferation, Circulation and Trafficking of Small Arms and Light Weapons;

Aware of the harmful effects on development of the chaotic proliferation and uncontrolled circulation of small arms and light weapons, and the fact that poverty and the lack of prospects for a better future create conditions conducive to the misuse of such arms, especially by youth;

Taking account also of the actions taken under the Brazzaville Programme of Priority Activities for the implementation in Central Africa of the United Nations Programme of Action to Prevent, Combat and Eradicate the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects;

Taking account also of the importance of instruments for the implementation of confidence-building measures among Central African States, such as the Non-Aggression Pact, the Mutual Assistance Pact and the Protocol relating to the Council for Peace and Security in Central Africa (COPAX).

Considering that the illicit trade and trafficking in small arms and light weapons poses a threat to the stability of States and to the security of their populations by, inter alia, promoting armed violence, prolonging armed conflict and encouraging the illicit exploitation of natural resources;

Mindful of the need to ensure that peace and security remain one of the major goals of relations among Central African States;

Taking into account the porous nature of borders between our States and how difficult it is for States to stop the illicit trade and trafficking in small arms and light weapons, their ammunition and all parts and components that can be used for their manufacture, repair and assembly;

Recalling that bladed weapons are tools that can be used for violent and criminal purposes;

Anxious to fight the phenomenon of roadblockers, cross-border insecurity and organized crime;

Recognizing the important contribution of civil society organizations in the fight against the illicit trade and trafficking in small arms and light weapons;

Taking into account that certain members of the Committee have signed the Protocol on the Control of Firearms, Ammunition and Other Related Materials in the Southern African Development Community Region and the Nairobi Protocol for the Prevention, Control and Reduction of Small Arms and Light Weapons in the Great Lakes Region and the Horn of Africa, and considering that this Convention is fully consistent with the efforts being made by the Central African States to combat illicit weapons at the subregional, continental and global level;

Bearing in mind the adoption on 18 May 2007, of the Sao Tomé Initiative whereby the States that are members of the Committee decided, inter alia, to draw up a legal instrument on the control of small arms and light weapons in Central Africa;
